

ABSTRACT

Equivalent circuits and a simulation method for simulating an RF switch are disclosed. The equivalent circuits are a first equivalent circuit and a second equivalent circuit, and are formed by resistors, capacitors, and inductors. The method includes using the first equivalent circuit to simulate the switch at a turned-off state and using the second equivalent circuit to simulate the switch at a turned-on state.